HINTS OF VALUE

WATERMARKS

Thus we see the necessity of the collector becoming thoroughly acquainted with the nature of the watermarks belonging to the various countries, each country, with very few exceptions, having some peculiar designs of it's own.

Inverted watermarks, are watermarks showing up side down on the stamp. This may be caused by the small design on the sieve becoming detached and being soldered on up side down, in which case one stamp would show a normal watermark while the next would show an inverted. The watermarked sheet of paper may however, be fed to the press up side down, thus causing the whole sheet of stamps to have inverted watermarks.

On the stamps of Great Britain we find a genuine inverted watermark, said to be the only one in existance. It occurs in the heraldic emblem, in which the rose should always show two petals at top and three below, but may be found with three above and two below.

Various stamps of Queensland may also be found watermarked Crown and Q sideways. Watermarks may also appear reversed, while in some cases the name of the countries which appear on the border of the sheet may partly show on the outer row of stamps. These varieties are caused by the way in which the paper is fed the press, viz:- a sheet fed wrong side up will show a reverse watermark. This may be done intentionally, as in the 4d. of Great Britian, or through carelessness

All countries do not issue stamps on watermarked papers, Canadian, for instance, are unwaterrmarked, excepting a few issued in 1868, some of which show a watermark "Can C. P. D." This is claimed by some to be the paper maker's name, and they doubt if it should be recognized as a variety. We however believe it is intended for Cannda, Canadian Post Department, and in either case is as much entitled to recognition as any other variety of paper.

Great Britain probably has the largest number of watermarks, but all it's stamps are not watermarked. The first was issued in May, 1840, consisting of 1d. black, also later, 1d. black, 2d. blue and 1d. red, are watermarked with small crowns.

In our next issue we'll take up our third subject, viz;- Impression.

THE CAMERA.

For mounting your prints use pure starch made to a firm jelly.

Fixing bath. Half a pound of hyposulphate of soda to one pint of water.

Fog and stains may be removed by a weak solution of cyanide of potash and iodine.

To reduce an over-printed picture take some of the ordinary fixing bath in a seperate dish and add to it a few drops of a 10% solution of ferricyanide of potassium.

If your prints persist in curling up when dry, place the print downwards on a piece of blotting paper, then hold on it the edge of an ivory paper knife. Draw the print steadily from under the paper knife, using sufficeint pressure to allow the print to pass without tearing. Repeat till the print lies flat.

A good developer suitable for almost any make of plate is.- In bottle A; half ounce pyrogallic acid, half ounce of bromide of ammoniun, and half ounce of metabisulphide of potass, make up to six ounces with water. In bottle B; two and a half ounces of .880 ammonia, and make up to six ounces with water. Keep well corked. For rightly exposed pictures use one drachm each of A and B and make up to six ounces with water.

COINS.

Many of the most ancient coins of Greece are of artistic beauty.

The silver penny made it's first appearance under Offa, king of Mercia, A. D. 757.

Old Roman coins are often found in England, where old Roman towns once existed.

Arrange your coins neatly in your cabinet, starting first with the common, and adding the rarer pieces as opportunities occur.

The copper coinage of George III. was not struck at the Royal Mint, but by Messrs. Boulton & Wall, Soho, Birmingham. There were a large number of dies of various patterns, produced by differnt engravers, from which a few impressions were struck, and submitted to the authorities. These coins are very scarce and demand a high price.

These dies eventually fell into the hands of other persons, who after re-burnishing them, started to re-strike coins for the benefit of collectors. These "re-strikes" can be detected by the aid of a glass, as the corroding and burnishing of the dies have removed the finer portions of the engraving. The edges are also sharper.

MONEY IN STAMP COLLECTING.

That there is money to be made in stamp collecting is plainly shown by the well known stamp expert, Mr. Chas. J. Phillips, in his book "Fifty Years of Philately."

Mr. Phillips, for some years back has been in a position to know the details, and has kept a record of the various collections placed on the market. He gives the following, showing the enormous increase of value over the original cost.

Collections of one country only.

| Orig'l cost. | Sale price. | Y'rs mak'g. |
|---|---|---|
| £ 840 | £1,630 | 6 |
| 1,100 | 2,300 | 4 |
| 650 | 2,250 | 15 |
| 450 | 1,250 | 8 |

Collections of two to seven countries.

| Orig'l cost. | Sale price. | Y'rs mak'g. |
|---|---|---|
| £16,500 | £29,500 | 12 |
| 5,000 | 10,000 | 14 |
| 2,800 | 6,000 | 7 |
| 4,200 | 5,750 | 6 |

Every collector is perhaps not as fortunate in his selection of stamps that advance in price rapidly, and while some stamps may be bought as cheap to-day, or perhaps cheaper than a few years back, still a large percent of recent issues have advanced in price even more remarkably than those quoted by Mr. Phillips.

It is the collector who has a thorough knowledge of his stamps who derives the most benefits therefrom in every way.

Among Our Exchanges

By N. W. J. Haydon.

Exchanges will please address one copy to Review Editor, Mr. N. W. J. Haydon, 498 Ontario St., and one to the Dominion Philatelist's office, 18 Ottawa Street, Toronto.

"Stamp Lore" Berlin, Ont., May. This number contains a large amount of useful information, and introduces us to a new constituency, the Dominion Republic. There is also an ambitious piece of verse dealing with the Newfoundland issues.

The "Perforator" is to hand with it's usual bright and useful information.

The Chicago Stamp News, June, contains as it's cheaf feature some good and pertinant advice by F. B. Wilson on the formation of a Philatelic Library, and, more important still, how to make the best use of it. Mr. Wilson, however, omits the most necessary adjunct to a library, and that is some method of indexing the items worth remembering. A library of the kind suggested, without some guide to it's contents, would be practically useless to any one but it's collector, and he would have only his memory to depend upon.

The Exchange, Kirksville, Mo., has a "queries" column, a feature worth copying by all philatelic magazines which do not include it.

De Nederlandsche Philatelist, Amsterdam, June, gives amongst other news a list of the prize winners at the recent philatelic exhibition in London. In it we note that Canada is represented by Mr. C. L. Pack only, while the West Indies and the Spanish American countries have each five prize winners! This is not creditable to us.

Stamps At Auction.

Rare stamps in good condition are always saleable, and often damaged copies bring good prices, as the following will show.

| | £. S. D. |
|---|---|
| British Guiana 8c. 1850 | 10. 0. 0. |
| Bolivia 500c. 1870 | 5. 0 0. |

| United States 24c. 1851 | 17. 0. 0. |
| " " 90c. 1855 | 5. 0. 0. |

Hundreds of rare stamps are sold weekly, the seller deviding up collections into parcels most likely to meet the requests of collectors, The rarer stamps as a rule are sold single.

VIEW CARDS.

In order to keep our readers informed regarding new issues of Pictorial post cards and other Novelties of interest to collectors we will, if Publishers or Manufacturers send us samples, make special mention of the same.

Picture post cards originated in France.

No "fad" has increased in popularity in so short a time as souvenir post card collecting.

One of the latest novelties is the silver autotype series. These cards are richly coloured on a silver background.

Will picture post card collecting die out? In answer to this an English paper states that as long as people travel, and as long as there is a desire to see the different parts of the world; the demand for picture post cards will not lessen.

As this subject will come before the convention, I shall be glad to hear from you on this matter.

Although our increase of members during the past six months has only averaged two a month, I am exceedingly pleased at the quality of the same. I am also receiving enquiries from abroad.

President's Address.

Victoria, B. C.

July 1st. 1906.

To Members of the D. P. A.

Our Secretary reminds me that we are nearing annual convention once again. Situated as I am on this island on the Pacific Coast it is impossible for me to attend, much as I should like to; and have the opportunity of making the personal acquaintance of many of you. I feel that it would be much wiser to have as your leader one who can be in closer touch with the majority, and trust that you will secure such a party for the coming year. I shall continue to work just as eagerly; and I believe that we are slowly but surely rousing interest out here. The difficulty is to bring collectors up to the point of joining. They seem wholly ignorant of the great pleasure gained by combination. I am sure that you have noted with pleasure the great improvement in our official organ, and our warm thanks are due to all the officers, especially our hard working Secretary and our courteous and energetic Sale Superintendent. We have the past year been "marking time" let us resolve to now step forward and have a large and enthusiastic membership.

W. W. Bolton,

President.

Stamps of the United States issued 1847 - 57 are not receivable for postage.

If you receive more than one copy of this paper kindly hand it to a friend.

If you wish to be placed on circuit write to the Rev. A. J. Young, Manitowaning, Ontario.

Have you a copy of the Universal Catalogue, they are very useful, we will mail 1905 copy for 35 cents.

There is not to be a uniform universal postage rate; many difficulties stand in the way; the new varieties will continue to come.

■ ■ ■

Penny postage now exists between the United Kingdom and Bechuanaland and Rhodesia. This does not effect letters from Rhodesia and Bechuanaland to the United Kingdom.

Has your collection increased in nnmbers and quality during the last few months? Remember that during the summer months dealers often "sacrifice" in order to keep the ball rolling. Watch out for some of these bargains.

San Fransisco.

In our last issue we stated that it was our intention to give a detailed statement of the calamity at San Fransisco.

The fire started soon after the earthquake, the big shock breaking the watermains and depriving the whole city of water; thus rendering the fire brigade practically useless. The only thing they could do was to dynamite great tracts of houses to try to check the awful sweep of fire. The fire, however, gained such headway that it seemed as if nothing could stop it, burning as it did in all it's fierceness for four days. The total area destroyed was 450 city blocks.

That all of us will suffer from the effects of the disaster, either directly or indirectly is certain. Our friend W. M. Lester reports.- "My folks got off quite fortunately, three lost about all they had, one his place of business. Here, at home, Berkely, our chimney burst. Earthquakes come so seldom here that we got it hard this time for good measure."

It is, however, late in the day to give a detailed report of the disaster from a social point of view.

San Fransisco, situated as it is on the Pacific Coast, is the head shipping point for most vessels trading in the far east. Thus we find that the likelyhood of large quantities of stamps, chiefly Hawain, were likely to have been stocked by dealers in San Fransisco. To try to estimate the loss in private collections would be useless. Such a vast area must have contained numbers of stamps not only in collections but in the accumulation of old letters and papers bearing stamps, old State revenue, and California locals. Nor is this all, four large dealers stocks were burnt in the big fire.

Sells, Chopp & Co. saved part of their stock and resumed business in the unburnt section of San Fransisco. O. Shaughnessy lost everything. E. W. Smith lost everything. Makin & Co., with probably the largest and best stock of Hawains in existance, also strong in Orientals. This firm was doing a large wholesale business. First, reports were to the effect that the bulk of the stock was saved in safes; the fire however, proved too hot for the safes and the entire stock was destroyed.

A, H. Greenbaun saved his collection of 21,000 stamps by burying them in the yard.

Thus we see that large numbers of stamps have been destroyed, but as a collection of stamps is generally valuable and contained in a small bulk and therefore likely to be the first thing sought, in an emergency of this kind it is hard to say how many private collections were saved.

The annual sale of postage stamps in Britian represents a weight of about 130 tons, and the number of packets of all discriptions dealt with by the post-office authorities each year is more than 4,00,000,000.
